

Assessment Date: ____/____/____ Student: _____ Examiner: _____
Words Read Correctly (WRC): _____ Errors: _____ Notes: _____

Alien Landing Part II

Pie Corbett

It was twenty-four hours later that Tom woke with a start, though at that point	16
he didn't realise how much time had passed. He shivered, not remembering	28 anything. Beside him, Jez lay curled up innocently. Tom stared around him.	40
They were still in the forest and the bushes and grass had been trampled.	54
Trees were still smouldering. Of course... the spaceship!	62
No one believed them. They couldn't remember what had happened after the	74 ship's door had opened. The doctor diagnosed amnesia, brought on by shock.	86
They both knew that the space ship had landed and an alien had begun to	101 appear but after that, the next 24 hours were a complete blank. In the end, the	117
police went away muttering about time wasters - and left them to get on with	131
the rest of their holiday.	136
It was only when he went to bed that night that Tom found it. In his pocket	153
there was a jet black pebble. It was shiny and comforting to hold. He rubbed	168
the smooth surface and as he did so, it began to warm and then it glowed.	184
Weirdly, Jez had also found a stone in his pocket. A present perhaps – a	199 present from another world. But what were the stones for? Tom wasn't too	212
sure if he wanted to know.	218

It was twenty-four hours later that Tom woke with a start, though at that point he didn't realise how much time had passed. He shivered, not remembering anything. Beside him, Jez lay curled up innocently. Tom stared around him. They were still in the forest and the bushes and grass had been trampled. Trees were still smouldering. Of course... the spaceship!

No one believed them. They couldn't remember what had happened after the ship's door had opened. The doctor diagnosed amnesia, brought on by shock. They both knew that the space ship had landed and an alien had begun to appear but after that, the next 24 hours were a complete blank. In the end, the police went away muttering about time wasters - and left them to get on with the rest of their holiday.

It was only when he went to bed that night that Tom found it. In his pocket there was a jet black pebble. It was shiny and comforting to hold. He rubbed the smooth surface and as he did so, it began to warm and then it glowed. Weirdly, Jez had also found a stone in his pocket. A present perhaps – a present from another world. But what were the stones for? Tom wasn't too sure if he wanted to know.